"MAYBE WE CAN DO IT WITHOUT FIRING A SHOT, BOYS—"

In gravest tones, our governmental leaders warn the people that waste in the United States will shatter our productive might, sicken our economy and allow Joe Stalin and his international gangsters to "move in" on the United States and smaller democratic nations without firing a shot.

They urge the people to curb inflation . . . spend carefully . . . avoid borrowing . . . and work at top efficiency during this most critical period.

The people do have a tremendous responsibility in the elimination of waste — BUT WHEN DOES WASHINGTON START PRACTICING WHAT IT PREACHES?

Today there are almost as many civilian government employees as there are men and women in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines combined. Most of them get ten weeks off every year, at full pay — about six weeks more than the average non-government worker. If the federal employee worked as many hours as the average private employee, taxpayers would save at least $200,000,000 a year, and it is estimated that the nation's vital manpower pool would increase by 100,000. YET, SAYS THE GOVERNMENT. "THE PEOPLE MUST WORK MORE EFFICIENTLY."

An investigating committee found that in many government agencies, among workers whose only job was to make out purchase orders, the average "work load" per day was two orders. With many purchases for less than $20 each, it found that the cost of putting through purchase orders was $7.06 in the Treasury Department; $9.95 in the Interior Department; $13.98 in the Bureau of the Mint, and $23.94 in the U. S. Coast Guard. In the National Park Service, procurement costs for a 50-cent magazine were $13.89, and in the Bureau of Reclamation, $2.45 worth of drinking cups cost $19.80 after "administrative costs" were added. YET, SAYS THE GOVERNMENT, "THE PEOPLE MUST SPEND CAREFULLY."

These are only isolated examples of the waste in Washington today. Multiply them by the tens of thousands, and you have a clearer picture of the way dollars and manpower are being sucked down the drain in the nation's capitol.

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT IT? PLENTY!

Keep informed on government extravagance and let your elected representatives know what you think about such waste.

Today the U. S. family share of our national debt is $6,786. Write your Congressman and urge him, again and again, to fight waste in government. Any citizen, any time, has a right to stick in his "two cents worth." Today, you have a right "to stick in your $6,786 worth!"
